

Some Thoughts before I go.....

October 28, 2014

I haven't been feeling to good lately because my ears have been hurting and I've been thinking a lot about the Rainbow Bridge. Do you know about the Rainbow Bridge? I'll tell you about it in a minute. Dad's knows I hurt and we've been talking about it a lot lately. But before I go there are some things I want you to know.

Rescuing us puppy mill dogs is really work of a higher calling, please keep it up. We're your starfish, you can't save all of us but to those of us that you do save, it really matters. But, I left a lot of friends behind in the puppy mill that didn't get rescued so rescuing isn't enough. Please put as much energy as possible into bringing puppy mills to an end so all my friends don't need to suffer like I did.

Before I go I want to thank Theresa and all the folks at National Mill Dog Rescue who saved me; the doctors and nurses at Companion Animal Hospital, Southern Colorado Veterinary Specialists, Animal Allergy & Dermatology, Eye Specialist for Animals, and everyone else who got me well and gave me such good medical care every day of my new life. I want to thank all the good people at Colorado Citizens for Canine Welfare for all their hard work to end puppy mill abuses. I want to thank Melanie Montano and Ray Volkema for the professional video they created to tell my story and end puppy mills. I want to thank my friend Maddie Olson who helped get me over 400 friends on Facebook. I especially want to thank my mom Mary and Julie Wysocki for all the love and the years of hard work they devoted to create awareness and make sure stories like mine no longer happen.

Then there's my dad. I know I've been a pain in the butt with all the care I've needed but boy is he going to miss me. His office is going to be pretty empty without me and I don't know how he'll get any work done. Lord only knows what he'll do with all that room in his chair when he's not sharing it with me. I'll really miss not riding around in the car with him all day, not to mention all the belly rubs. I'll just miss him and I know he'll miss me. But there is a brighter side.....about that rainbow bridge. Let me finish my story.....about that Rainbow Bridge.....

Just this side of heaven is a place called the Rainbow Bridge.

When an animal dies that has been especially close to someone here, that pet goes to the Rainbow Bridge.

There are meadows and hills for all of our special friends so they can run and play together.

There is plenty of food, water and sunshine, and our friends are warm and comfortable.

All the animals who had been ill and old are restored to health and vigor; those who were hurt or maimed are made whole and strong again, just as we remember them in our dreams of days and times gone by.

The animals are happy and content, except for one small thing; they each miss someone very special to them, who had to be left behind.

They all run and play together, but the day comes when one suddenly stops and looks into the distance. His bright eyes are intent; His eager body quivers. Suddenly he begins to run from the group, flying over the green grass, his legs carrying him faster and faster.

You have been spotted, and when you and your special friend finally meet, you cling together in joyous reunion, never to be parted again. The happy kisses rain upon your face; your hands again caress the beloved head, and you look once more into the trusting eyes of your pet, so long gone from your life but never absent from your heart.

Then you cross the Rainbow Bridge together.... Author unknown.

How about that? I'll be able to see and run and jump and play and just have a really good time! I can't wait to really SEE my mom and dad and Tieli and Wyatt, how terrific will that be! So I'm sad to be leaving all of you but if it's ok with you I think I'll just head on over to the Rainbow Bridge and wait until we can all be together again. See you soon, love you all, Mr. Will.
